Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields Special Study Area

ТЕХТ	COMMENTS/NOTES
Introduction and Background
The Bristoe Station Battlefield consists of approximately 9,410 acres. This battle on October 14, 1863, was the terminal fight in a campaign that ended Confederate offensive operations in the Virginia theatre of the Civil War. The Battle of Kettle Run on August 27, 1862, a component of the overall Manassas Stations Operations, is contained within the Bristoe Station Battlefield. Kettle Run was a text book execution of a fighting retreat and stalling action. The Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields Historical area is delineated on
County as the Bristoe Station Battlefield Heritage Park. Additional cultural resources within this area include Confederate troop camps after the First Battle of Manassas and Union camps throughout the Civil War, as well as Civil War soldier cemeteries and private cemeteries, architectural sites and archaeology sites. This special planning area recognizes all of these resources but focuses on Civil War resources.
Intent
The purpose of this special planning area is to recognize the importance of Bristoe Station Battlefield and Kettle Run Battlefield as a valuable cultural resource deserving preservation. The intent is to promote preservation of the battlefields, by increasing measures land owners can voluntarily undertake to preserve battlefield landscapes and viewsheds and provide clear goals on what lands should be preserved The Driston Station and Kattle Dup Dattlefields Historical Area is in both the The Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields Historical Area is in both the Development Area and Rural Area. Goals and action strategies were developed separately for the development area and for the rural area. These battlefield landscapes includes public land but consists mostly of privately owned land.
Those parcels exhibiting a rural character have provided protection to the battlefields primarily because the parcels remained in agricultural production.
that is, row crop production and pasture land.
The goal of this plan is to establish policies that will guide conservation efforts, county investments, and future development by identifying, researching, documenting, preserving, and interpreting the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields, their landscapes and viewsheds, and other significant archaeological, architectural sites and districts, and cemeteries from other time periods for the benefit of all the County's citizens and visitors.

POLICY 1: Incentivize preservation of the battlefield landscape in the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields Historical Area. 1. Designate undeveloped portions of the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Historical Area on the map as sending areas for future TDR programs and priority areas for PDR programs (Figure CR-1). 2. Encourage and facilitate the acquisition of preservation easements in the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Historical Area. 3. Transfer management of any battlefield landscape acquired by the County to the Historical Preservation Division for management and interpretation. 4. Acquire easements for the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields Historical Area. 5. Cultivate private, local, state and federal partners, including landowners, to preserve battlefield lands in the Historical Area. 6. Utilize preservation-oriented, sustainable development negotiated through rezoning and special use permit requests within the Development Area. 9 POLICY 2 – Protect, maintain, manage and interpret the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Battlefields Historical Area 1. Prepare planning and management guidelines for preservation of battlefield lands and viewsheds. 2. 2. Use a five-pronged approach of cultural resource management, vegetation management, viewshed management, private battlefield management and business management. 3. Cultivate and create a partnership to manage all preserved land, whether private or publicly owned. 4. the character consistent with this Historical Area.
5. Encourage the preservation of views to and from battlefields through the protection of farm fields, meadows and woodlands.
6. Designate viewsheds as sending areas for TDR programs and priority areas for PDR programs.
7. Encourage and facilitate preservation and conservation easements in viewsheds.
8. Use rural cluster provisions to preserve viewsheds in the Rural Area.
9. Encourage development that mitigates adverse effects to viewsheds.
10. Maintain Bristow Road and Aden Road as 2-lane rural roads.
11. Implement buffers to protect viewsheds.

and to incorporate the results of Phase I archaeological/cultural resource archaeological/cultural resource study.

3. CR 7.3 Encourage property owners to dedicate land to the County or provide historic resource or conservation easements at the time a rezoning is granted per Sec 15.2 -2303.4, or a special use permit or other site development is approved, whichever occurs earliest, for the purpose of preserving and providing public access to historically significant features of the Bristoe Station and Kettle Run Historical Area, particularly along pedestrian trails where historic markers and other interpretive materials will be located to provide information about the Battle of Bristoe Station, the Battle of Kettle Run and other significant uses of the area during the Civil War. Said dedication or easements are to be legally granted at the time of site plan approval. Land disturbance and new construction will not be permitted within the historic resource lands or easements except to the extent necessary to construct trails, markers, and other interpretive materials. The historic resource lands or easements may include roads and utilities and stormwater management facilities provided such structures and improvements are designed with the objective of minimizing the impact to historical features. The need for such crossings will be justified at the time of rezoning, special use permit, or site plan. Property owners or f developers shall be entitled to the density otherwise associated with land located within the historic resource lands or easements based on the underlying land use designations depicted on the Long-Range Land Use Plan Map.
4. CR 7.4 Encourage development that is located, situated, and buffered so as to maintain a high degree of the existing physical and visual integrity of the area while permitting the appropriate development as outlined in the Long-Range Land Use Plan Map. Ensure that a viewshed analysis is undertaken in consultation with the County to determine topographic and vegetative conditions that will provide guidance on appropriate building mass, heights, and placement of buildings on the developing site so as not to negatively impact views to and from the area.
